official company description (short version)

BUILD BETTER REALITY — Bridge the gap between the physical and digital worlds through reality capture technology that provides the digital foundation for the world you want to live in.

Logo

The NavVis logo is a visual representation of our brand and consists of a typographic letter form of the word “NavVis”. It is not permitted to alter the NavVis logo in any way. All NavVis clients and partners are required to comply with the following usage specifications at all times. “NavVis” and the NavVis logo are a trademark of the NavVis company.

Alternate versions

In addition to the primary gray and blue NavVis logo, there is also a reverse white and blue color variation, which is the correct choice when using the logo on dark backgrounds. If appropriate, a partner’s corporate color may be used as the background color when using this reverse version.

All logo variations are available in versions suitable for web (digital) applications and for print applications.

Logo clear space

In order to ensure easy readability of our logo, a minimum space area around the logo must be respected at all times. This clear space is equivalent to the height of the letter “N”.

Combining the NavVis logo with multiple logos
When including the NavVis logo among a collection of other logos (for example, when displaying a list of corporate partners) all logos must appear the same size, with equal distance between them. The NavVis logo shall be center-aligned either horizontally or vertically with the other logos.

Logo don'ts

We've taken great care in crafting our logo. Do not modify, change or otherwise alter any of the logo elements (color, typeface, proportion, etc.)

- don't distort or compress the logo
- don't change the logo typeface
- don't rearrange the logo elements in any way
- don't alter the colors of the logo
- don't use the logo as text
- don't place the logo on a busy background
- don't apply any effects to the logo
- don't outline the logo
- don't tilt or rotate the logo

Color system

The primary colors associated with the NavVis brand are NavVis Blue and NavVis Grey. These two colors are often used in combination with a neutral color (ex: white), and optionally, also with an accent color. Only one additional accent color may be used at a time, and only at a proportion below 10% of the overall design. It is not necessary to include an accent color.

The NavVis Digital Blue is only used for digital media: websites, presentations, apps., etc. The NavVis Grey, the NavVis accent colors, and white can be used for both digital and print media.

The NavVis Print Blue is used for all printed materials like brochures, letterheads, case studies or trade show booths and swag.

Always use NavVis Grey for the main typography. The use of pure black is not part of the NavVis color system.

Typography

NavVis uses the typeface Poppins for header text in both digital and print media, and always in combination with the typeface Open Sans.

A highly legible typeface on screen and at small sizes, Open Sans is the best choice for body text, and should be used for its intended purpose whenever possible.

The typeface Noto Sans is available in a wide variety of scripts and is appropriate for foreign characters.

If none of these fonts are available, then the Arial typeface may be used.

We value our Partners

Around the world, an ecosystem of partners are offering innovative services and solutions based on NavVis technology. Resellers are well-established and trusted companies that bring NavVis products to all corners of the world. Mapping Partners own NavVis mobile mapping devices and are trusted providers of quality mapping services across the globe. Solution Partners use NavVis software products or APIs to develop and offer innovative services and solutions to customers. The term “Partner” in the following pages refers to our Authorized Resellers, our Mapping Partners, and our Solution Partners.

To ensure that NavVis and our business partners fully benefit from this partnership, this document provides guidelines for common materials related to our shared marketing efforts. As a NavVis Partner, you consent to comply with these guidelines at all times, in order to protect the NavVis brand identity and to leverage yours.

Co-branding best practices

Well-executed co-branding enables NavVis and its Partners to combine forces, allowing our brand and marketing efforts to work together. For this to work successfully, it is important to clearly communicate our relationship on any marketing material.

The following pages will outline the best co-branding approach for marketing materials that have been created by NavVis, as well as for marketing materials created by our Partners. Whenever possible, we have included a visual example of our co-branding principles.

Once you have read and understood this document, you will be well-equipped to co-brand an array of marketing materials. Please note that the following items are NOT suitable for co-branding: technical documentation and whitepapers.

Translations

All translations done by external parties are unofficial translations and must be labeled as such.

Printing of marketing material

Make sure to print in as high a DPI as possible. Also please ensure that all photos are available in high resolution, preferably 300dpi or higher. For offset printing, the document must be CMYK converted. Finally, you should check the colors on an electronic proof print before sending it to the printer.

Media kits (for Partners)

www.navvis.com/resources/content-library?type=media-kit

If you have any questions or requests, please don't hesitate to reach out to the NavVis Marketing Team. In particular, we always welcome samples of our collaborators' work — we may be able to provide guidance with your promotional needs.

NavVis marketing material

The following section deals with materials in which NavVis is the primary content creator, and the Partner is the supporting brand. This is typically the case for: product and solution brochures, advertisements, event materials, presentations, and hardware.

If you are a NavVis Partner and wish to use original NavVis marketing materials, you may do so by placing your company logo in the designated area, along with the words, “in partnership with” or “authorized reseller”.

The NavVis logo will be the visually dominant logo in both size and placement, while the Partner should be roughly 2/3 the size and ideally placed opposite the NavVis logo. If the Partner’s contact details are present, then they must always accompany the Partner’s logo.

The visual examples in the following pages are for illustrative purposes only. Actual NavVis material may vary.

NavVis advertisements

On advertisements supplied by NavVis, the partner logo and contact details must remain together, and located opposite of the NavVis logo. The partner logo must be roughly 2/3 the size the NavVis logo, and it must be accompanied by the words “authorized reseller” or “in partnership with.”

NavVis presentations

In general, NavVis presentations and slides should not be altered in any way. However, NavVis understands that Partners sometimes need to adapt a presentation to suit their requirements, especially in situations where co-branding is desired. In general, Partners may only add their logos to the slides or sections that have been marked as editable, along with the words, “authorized reseller” or, “in partnership with.” For more information, please contact the NavVis Marketing team.

Partner promotional material

The following section deals with materials in which the Partner is the primary content creator, and NavVis is the supporting brand. This is typically the case for: partner websites, presentations, and service offerings.

If you are a NavVis Partner and wish to create your own promotional material, you may do so by using the respective badge for which you qualify (see “Partner Badges”). It is not permitted to use the NavVis corporate logo in your promotional material in any way that suggests your original material is NavVis endorsed content.

Combining with other trademarks/logos

You may place the NavVis logo and logos of other brands on the same media provided that the latter are not larger than the NavVis logo. For guidance in this, refer to the “Combining the NavVis logo with multiple logos” section of this document.

Correct product names

Please ensure that you use the correct product names when referring to NavVis products: “NavVis VLX”, “NavVis MLX” and “NavVis IVION”.

Unofficial translations

All unofficial translations must be conspicuously marked, “this independent translation does not constitute official NavVis product information”.

Co-branded merchandising

Please contact the NavVis Marketing Team for guidance related to co-branded merchandising.

The visual examples in the following pages are for illustrative purposes only.

Partner badges

Partners may use the respective badge for which they qualify. Visual examples of when and how to use this badge are provided further in this document. All logo usage guidelines as specified in the “Styleguide” section of these Marketing Guidelines also apply to the partner badges.

Partner advertisements

The following example shows the suggested placement of the partner logo and partner badge on advertisement created by the Partner. The partner company logo should be the visually dominant logo on the advertisement, and the NavVis partner badge must be placed in a subordinate position, preferably opposite the partner company logo. Do not use the NavVis partner badge alone.

Partner presentations

Partners can create their own presentations featuring NavVis products by using the NavVis assets available in our media kits; however, the presentation should in no way imply that NavVis has created or endorsed the content. The partner company logo must be the dominant logo in the presentation, while the NavVis partner badge should be used to clarify content ownership.

In some cases, Partners may adapt a NavVis-created presentation for use in their own presentations. Please contact NavVis Marketing for more information.

Partner presentation

Partner websites & URLs

We encourage you to display NavVis as a trusted technology provider on your website and other media channels. The NavVis partner badge can be used within the content section of a webpage, when accompanied by NavVis-related material created or modified by the Partner. If desired, the NavVis partner badge may also appear in the main header section, ideally opposite the partner logo.

Using the NavVis logo

You may use the NavVis logo alongside NavVis official text and images — for example, on a product page — or when multiple company logos are listed (see “Combining the NavVis logo with other logos”). It is not permitted to use the NavVis logo in the header section of the website.

Website URLs and Domain Names

Your website URL is a subtle, yet essential, part of your company’s identity. It is therefore not permitted to use NavVis, NavVis products, and/or NavVis solution names as part of the partner company domain name. However, it is entirely acceptable to use the NavVis trademark in a subdirectory (subfolder) name, as follows:

example of correct Partner URL: www.(partner-name).com/navvis

Using NavVis gated material

If, on your website, you wish to include material created by NavVis that is otherwise gated (material that can only be accessed or downloaded from the NavVis website by filling out a form), please contact the NavVis Marketing Team for further guidance.
